A note for grown-ups

This playful, non-scary Halloween story celebrates choosing, trying, and changing one's mind. Keep costumes easy to see and move in, and let children decide whether they want to dress up.

Read slowly. Pause for pointing, counting, sounds, and wiggles. It is always okay for a little listener to turn the page.

What should ROB be?

Halloween morning brought three choices.

A purple hat.

Orange butterfly wings.

A green leaf cape.

“Hmm,” beeped ROB. “What feels like me?”

Try the hat

ROB tried the purple hat.

Flop!

It slipped over one eye.

ROB giggled. “Funny—but not today.”

It is okay to try. It is okay to change.

Two happy choices

Puppy chose the butterfly wings.

ROB chose the leaf cape.

Swish went the cape.

Flutter went the wings.

Both friends could see. Both friends could move.

Parade time

The garden parade began.

Rumble, flutter, swish!

No spooky monsters. No scary surprises.

Just colors, leaves, music, and friends.

“Happy Halloween!” beeped ROB.

Pretend and play

Would you choose the hat, wings, or cape?

Pretend to flutter. Pretend to swish.

You may dress up—or simply cheer.

CHOOSE · TRY · CHECK · CHANGE

The best costume is one that feels good to you.
